The Grant County Middle School renovations and upgrades included a new HVAC system throughout the school, lighting and wiring upgrades and security systems, as well a new entryway greeted studens and staff when school started.

FACE LIFT

By Camille McClanahan
Editorial Assistant

Grant County Middle School students and staff were greeted with a new look when they returned to school.

Renovations and upgrades to the Grant County Middle School had been in discussion for over a year before the project actually began. The Grant County Board agenda for Feb. 14, 2013 contained "approval of the BG-1 for Grant County Middle School HVAC,"

"The BG-1 is the first document to be filed with the Kentucky Department of Education when a school project is planned," Nancy Howe, Public Information Officer of Grant County Schools said.

Construction began in February and will be completely finished in October.

The school was built in 1954 and opened in 1955, the original Grant County High School has undergone many additions and revisions through the years.

Career Expo set for Sept. 10

18 employers to attend

By Bryan Marshall
Staff Writer

The number of unemployed in Grant County grew from 788 to 837 from June to July 2014.

While the county's unemployment rate of 6.9 percent is on the lower end of the scale in the state, job seekers still are out there.

The second annual Grant County Career Expo, sponsored by the Kentucky Career Center, hopes to help potential employees find a job.

The expo will be held from 1:30 to 4:30 p.m. Wednesday, Sept. 10 at the Grant County Extension Office, 105 Baton Rouge Rd., Williamstown.

Employers scheduled to be in attendance include: Aristech Surfaces, Speedway, Dana, G4 Security, Crown Services, Kelly Services, Cracker Barrel, Commonwealth Insurance, Fischer Special Manufacturing, Owenton Center Genesis Healthcare, Primerica, Grant County Schools, Rumpke, Grant County Foods, KOI Auto Parts, Adecco, Elwood Staffing and Centerline Drivers.

Service providers also set to be present include: the Brighton Center, Youth WIA and Health Connections, Gateway Community and Technical College, Grant County Adult Education, Northern Kentucky University-Grant County Center, Grant County Library and OET Veterans Services.

Last year, more than 100 job seekers and 13 employers attended the inaugural Grant County Career Expo.

POLICE SEARCH FOR MISSING UC PROFESSOR

By Bryan Marshall
Staff Writer

Family and friends are frantically searching for clues for the whereabouts of a missing 54-year-old Dry Ridge man.

Kentucky State Police Trooper Joshua Giles responded to a missing person call on Randall Russ on Aug. 30 after he has not been seen or heard from in more than two weeks.

Russ, who was a part-time computer science professor at the University of Cincinnati, was last seen by neighbors on Aug. 17 at his residence on Lemon-Northcutt Road in Grant County.

Aerial device gives sheriff's office bird's eye view

By Bryan Marshall
Staff Writer

The Grant County Sheriff's Office has taken to the sky to help with investigations.

While it's not a helicopter or airplane, a new drone-like technology has provided beneficial evidence in recent accident reconstructions and crime scenes.

The DJI Phantom 2 Quadcopter features a small camera that can take thousands of photographs and hours of video as it soars through the air.

Controlled by a handheld remote, the device has red and green LED lights underneath, a 1,000-foot range with the ability to go 22 miles per hour in air speed and flies below 400 feet in the air.

While the Quadcopter is in the air, the video feed can be monitored from a cellphone or tablet.

"I feel like our office is on the cutting edge of the latest technology," said Sheriff Chuck Dills. "We're using GPS trackers to find stolen property. We use surveillance cameras in post office break-ins. With a short staff, you have to come up with other means of cutting down time and resources."

The device is not owned by the sheriff's office, but is the personal property

"I feel like our office is on the cutting edge of the latest technology. We're using GPS trackers to find stolen property. We use surveillance cameras in post office break-ins."

- CHUCK DILLS
Grant Co. Sheriff

of Deputy Scott Conrad.

Conrad purchased the Quadcopter in March after a friend purchased one.

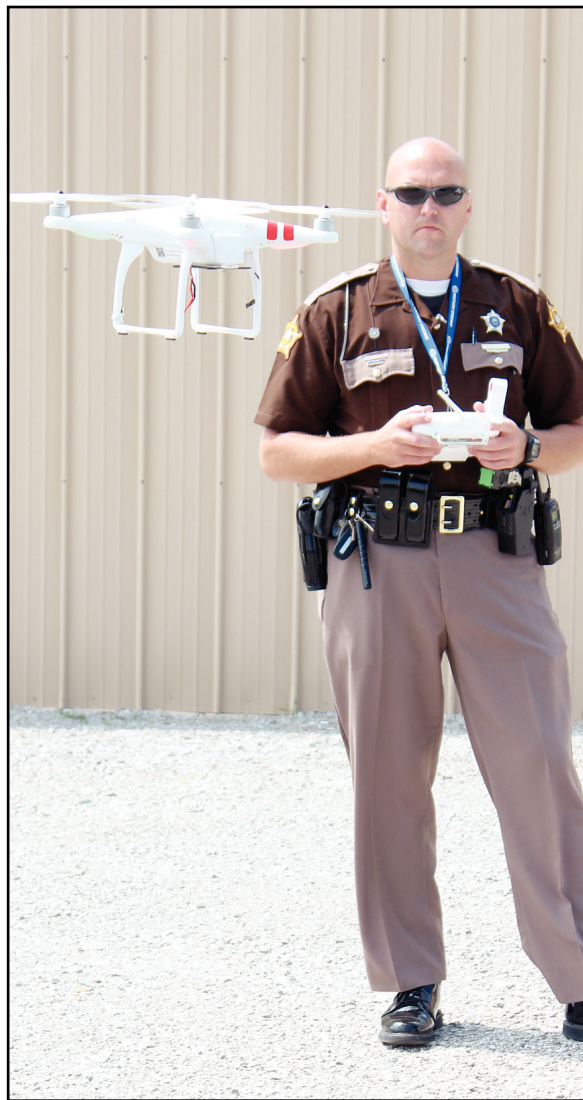

"Maggie," named by Conrad after a character in the TV show "The Walking Dead," costs about $500, but another $500 has gone into accessories.

Conrad bought the aerial device on a Friday and was flying like a professional the following day when he showed Dills how it can hover and soar.

While he has shot footage on Corinth Lake that he put to music and posted on YouTube, Conrad also sees the advantages the drone gives law enforcement.

From locating a missing person to getting a closer view of a hostage situation, the possibilities are endless.

Re-Elect TERRY PEEPLES for Grant County Jailer

Endorsed by the Fraternal Order of Police

Four years ago, when I became Grant County Jailer, a large number of residents were calling for the jail to be closed because it was costing the county approximately $1 million dollars a year to operate.

I ran on the platform that I would run the jail as a business and would increase revenue and decrease expenses. I have done that. The proof is in the Grant County Fiscal Court Budget.

Every year since I was elected I was able to increase the jail's revenue and now it completely covers the cost of all expenses which means none of your tax dollars are used for operating the detention center.

In less than four years I have made the Grant County Detention Center completely self-sufficient.

Ride Against Addiction to raise awareness, funds

By Bryan Marshall
Staff Writer

When her brother-in-law, Zack Young, died last year, April Swope and other family members wanted to do something.

"He died of a heroin overdose," she said. "He relapsed after a long time of not being on it. They found him in Florence at the Tractor Supply parking lot four days later."

"Our friends wanted to do a memorial (motorcycle) run for him, but we didn't want it to be just about him," Swope said. "There are so many people who are affected by this. There are so many people who have died in northern Kentucky alone over addiction. So, we thought, let's put together a ride so we can raise awareness and let people know that this people aren't just junkies. They have a problem and need help."

Therefore, the inaugural Northern Kentucky Ride Against Addiction and Family Picnic was born.

The event is set for Saturday, Sept. 13 at Grant County Park in Crittenden.

Registration for the run begins at 11:30 a.m. and the ride will start at 1 p.m.

All money will go toward Transitions Inc., a non-profit charity that provides life-saving treatment to those with substance use disorders.

The ride will include two stops, Elk Creek Vineyards in Owen County and Noble's Truckstop in Corinth.

Along with the ride, the fundraiser will feature addiction awareness booths, a silent auction, a split the pot, music by the Love Brokers and food.

Organizers are asking for dessert donations for the day of the event.

Booths will include: Transitions, Unchained Praises, PAR (People Advocating Recovery), TAM KY Chapter (The Addict's Mom), Therapeutic Counseling and Intervention Services with Laura Brown, Humana- Care Source, Shades in Style, A to Z Accessories, Kentucky Raceway Ministries, CMA (Christian Motorcycle Association), Iron Samaritans, Melissa Daugherty Photography and Quantum Celebrations.

T-shirts, made by Street Art Kustoms at the Richmond Fleamarket, also are being sold to raise money.

Swope originally thought the attendance would be around 50 people.

Having seen the amazing response, she plans on the NKY Ride Against Addiction being an annual event.

"We made a Facebook page and now we have 1,500 people estimated to be there," Swope said. "We have 200 to 300 bikes and cars so far. It's just getting big and we're excited. It's been amazing."

Anyone who would to volunteer for the event or donate to the silent auction/raffles can contact April Swope at 859-866-1516 or swope92508@yahoo.com.

Check the NKY Ride Against Addiction's Facebook page at www.facebook.com/nkyridingagainstadddiction for updates on the fundraiser.

OUR OPINION

Free cat spay/neuter clinic is a winner

Grant County has a problem of too many unwanted animals, especially cats.

The Grant County Friends of the Animal Shelter have worked hard the last several years to obtain grants to participate in a Trap Neuter and Release (TNR) program for these cats, which is helping the problem.

But there's more to be done and there's hope that the problem can be fixed, so to speak.

Marsha Chaney, director of the animal shelter, has obtained another grant that allows for basically free surgery to spay/neuter cats belonging to Grant County residents.

The program works like this - a person schedules their cat for surgery, pays a $20 refundable deposit. The cats also receive a rabies vaccination, FVRCP immunization, microchip and treatment for fleas, ear mites, ticks or tapeworms, if needed.

This is a partnership between the animal shelter and the United Coalition For Animals (UCAN).

Participants must go to the animal shelter on Baton Rouge Road and fill out paperwork and pay the deposit (which will be refunded when the animal is picked up) and then bring the animal back on the designated date.

Failure to keep the appointment means you forfeit the deposit.

This program is good for the county because it cuts the cost to feed and house unwanted cats, as well as allows cat owners to afford to spay/neuter their animals and it's absolutely free. That's just too good to complain about.

PERSONALLY SPEAKING

Elections are just around the corner

It won't be long until you start seeing election signs popping up like dandelions after a good rain shower.

That means that the election season is not too far away.

While the Grant County News does not endorse candidates, we will be bringing you an election section in October, which will feature information about all of the candidates seeking office to the fiscal court, other county offices, as well as to city council.

This will feature all the candidates who will appear on the Nov. 4 election.

All candidates have been mailed a questionnaire and have until 5 p.m. on Friday, Sept. 12 to return it. If the candidates chose not to return the questionnaire by the deadline, they will not be included in the special section on the election.

If a candidate has not received a questionnaire, they should contact me immediately.

The Grant County News, as the community's news and information leader, will strive to provide detailed coverage during election season.

That does not mean that a candidate can expect to get their photo in the paper every time they give a speech, kiss a baby or help an elderly neighbor.

Any news coverage is designed to be fair, balanced and objective. I'm sure that most candidates are looking for coverage to be fun, encouraging and supportive.

Along the political way, candidates may be upset at times with the coverage and try to vilify the newspaper and its staff members.

We'll try not to take it personally and hope that the candidates can also do the same.

The news staff is made up people doing a job the best we can. In collecting information and presenting stories, the first objective is accuracy.

Some candidates see the facts differently, but pleasing the candidates is not our aim. Pleasing readers is.

The News staff plans to review candidates' press releases, keep track of promotional messages, sponsor a forum and interview candidates. We will also be monitoring social media to keep track of candidates and their stand on issues important to Grant County.

Jamie

Editor

I want the public to understand that in this modern era, reporters must utilize all tools available to them to accomplish keeping up with candidates. Don't be surprised or alarmed if you notice a newspaper reporter is following a candidate or campaign on social media.

In the case of Facebook, "like" may not mean like. In Twitter, a follower could be acting simply as a monitor to watch for matters of public interest and concern that become postings.

A new "like" from me or one of our reporters on some candidates' Facebook site is the same as spotting their brochure or handout on my desk. It is research necessary to stay on top of developments and by no means should be considered an endorsement.

In an effort to make everyone, candidates and their supporters, as well as the general public aware of how we handle elections. Here are some rules that apply for the election.

Letters of endorsement

The Grant County News will publish letters of endorsement. Letters are limited to 200 words or less. The News will publish only one letter per candidate from one particular person. That means if John Q. Public sends in four letters to endorse a candidate for judge-executive, only one of those four letters will be published.

Endorsements will not be printed the week prior to the election. The deadline to submit a letter of endorsement is 5 p.m. on Oct. 16. Letters received after that time will not be published, no exceptions.

Letters of endorsement must follow the same guidelines as other letters to the editor.

Here's an important principle to remember: The Viewpoint page is a place for opinions. But it does not drive or influence news coverage.

As involved voters, it's important that you can digest the information appropriately and discern the difference between news, opinion and advertising. Each can have value but only if you can tell them apart.

Meet The Candidates Oct. 16

The News, in a partnership with the Grant County Chamber of Commerce, will also host a "Meet The Candidates" forum at 6:30 p.m. on Thursday, Oct. 16 at Williamstown High School. The public is invited and encouraged to attend to find out how the people you elect stand on the issues that impact your daily lives.

Here's your sign

Back to those grinning signs, Grant County does have rules about political signs.

According to the Grant County Zoning Regulations and the zoning regulations of each city, temporary political signs are permitted in all zones with the following conditions.

1. Only one political sign per candidate for local, state, or national office or any local or state issue is allowed on each lot.

2. Permission to place the sign must be obtained from the property owner or occupant.

3. Political signs are allowed no more than 60 days prior to an election and not more than 10 days after the date of the election.

4. No political sign can be larger than 12 square feet.

Those zoning ordinances, however, don't include penalties for candidates who violate them, but, under Kentucky law, candidates who break the ordinance could be fined $10 to $500 per day.

GUEST COLUMN

Grant project offers opportunity to improve children's health

Today's children could be the first in U.S. history to live sicker and die younger than their parents' generation. Lifestyle and institutional changes in recent decades make it difficult for children to eat a healthy diet and be active. Families with two working parents may find it easier to drive through for a fast-food dinner rather than cook; children don't feel safe walking or biking to school.

Grant County children are not immune from these trends. Most Grant County kids measure at a normal weight in early childhood, but by the 10th grade, 35 percent are clinically obese. Children in Grant County are also more likely to have diabetes.

Children should be physically active for one hour at least five days per week—only 31 percent of Grant County children meet this goal.

These figures can be discouraging or they can make the case for change. I prefer the later—and there is great opportunity for change.

The Fitness for Life Around Grant County coalition, more commonly known as FFLAG, has been selected by the Foundation for a Healthy Kentucky for a childhood health grant. For every $1 that FFLAG is able to raise in Grant County, the Foundation will match it with $2.

After a year of gathering community input, FFLAG has devised a plan to improve children's health by creating opportunities for local children to eat healthy and be more physically active. The plan calls for more than $500,000 in projects; yet with the grant, only $178,177 must be raised locally.

The plans are quite simple, really. Build sidewalks so kids can walk or bike to school or the library. Improve playgrounds and parks. Institute a curriculum in all elementary school classes that incorporates physical activity in to academic lessons. Plant a community garden. Implement school policies to eliminate candy or junk food sales.

Guest Columnist

The grant is for three years, but many of FFLAG's proposed projects will last far beyond that because they improve the infrastructure of the county. But more importantly, they begin to change the trends in health.

If all goes as planned, children who grow up in Grant County will have readily available access to healthy foods and places to actively play. In turn, they will be at a healthy weight, and less likely to develop chronic health problems like diabetes or heart disease. They won't need on-going medical care as they age.

Building a healthier Grant County really can start with the children. Please consider supporting FFLAG's efforts to raise the grant funds with a donation. Visit <http://www.getfitgc.org> or contact Mayor Rick Skinner, chair of FFLAG, at the City of Williamstown offices for details. With this grant, we have an amazing opportunity to make real change to improve health. Let's use it to our advantage.

DOWN AND DIRTY

Cover crops prove multi-purpose

While I will admit that half of my vegetable garden looks dreadful, the other half is holding steady because we mulched paths with a heavy layer of wood chips, filled unplanted beds with cover crops and have weeded the rest by hand and hoe. I started using cover crops about five years ago and I am sold on the multi-purpose usefulness.

While many disease pathogens winter over on plant debris and an equal amount remain viable in the soil it means we need to strategize to keep the garden relatively clean. Of course we can't remove our soil but do take note of what was planted where so you can rotate crop locations next year. For example, tomatoes are quite susceptible to several soil borne viral and bacterial diseases so these should always be planted in different locations each year (with an average three years off) to offset disease incidence.

We can do a few other things over the winter months too; once the garden has been cleaned up focus your attention on improving soil health. I have a habit of getting my compost, old manure or cover crops planted in the fall or early winter before the spring rush of chores. Plus, spring rains can sometimes delay our work so having it done before the planting season gets me once step closer to getting the garden in sooner than later.

Compost and old manure are self-explanatory, the more the better as they will improve drainage (no water-logged roots and a garden that can be worked sooner after heavy rains), water retention (moist but not soggy because we also have good drainage), soil fertility (food for our plants slowly throughout the season in a form that can be taken up by the plant) and a healthy web of soil life (where earthworms, good bacterium, nematodes and other things work symbiotically with our plants).

Cover Crops

Cover crops, or "green" manures work similarly but have the added advantage of breaking up clayey soils as their roots sink deep into the soil; they help to control weeds as they act as winter mulch; and since most cover crops are legumes they also take nitrogen from the atmosphere and transfer it to the soil. The nitrogen fixing capability of legumes is dependent on an association with soil-borne bacteria that colonizes around the nodules of the legume's roots which can be cultivated in healthy soil if you do not over work the soil with mechanical equipment (one of the reasons why I am an advocate of using broad-forks and garden forks to flip the soil instead of conventional roto-tillers). When spring comes the cover crop is turned into the soil acting as an organic amendment in the end. It totally helps to keep the soil from being water-logged which has been an issue the last couple of springs...with a cover crop in place I promise you can work a patch by hand shortly after a rain!

Cool season cover crop plants include various legumes like bell beans, winter peas and purple and hairy vetch as your nitrogen fixers. Oats and buckwheat have deep roots so they will break up clayey soils; oats and buckwheat will die out in the winter but provide a mulch to control erosion and weeds. Annual rye will persist through the winter and begin to re-grow in the spring when you can mow it and turn it back into the soil before planting. The weed control effect of cover crops is a great selling point for cover crops alone.

I have been amazed at how taking some simple natural measures to improve the soil of the vegetable garden have paid off over the years. We have excellent drainage, spend little time and money on additional fertilizer practices and have experienced only reasonable pest and disease pressure. Weeds are the biggest pest, really. Nothing is perfect but the garden performs better each year as we continue to actively improve the soil and remain diligent in removing debris at the end of the season.

FAITH & VALUES

RELIGIOUS VIEWS

Is it God’s fault that life stinks?

“My life stinks and it is God’s fault!” I have heard this from many people over the years, maybe not in those exact words but the premise of it. I often wonder when we say that if we are just trying to blame God for not listening to Him. If I ask a nutritionist on how to best lose some weight, then if I totally ignore everything they say, is it the nutritionist fault that I didn’t lose weight? Now God is good and God wants to bless us and so before we blame God for not blessing us, we must first take a look and see what it is He has already commanded us to do and ask ourselves, “Am I listening to what God has told me?” Now within the Bible there is great wisdom that if followed will lead to a better life.

Now there are always exceptions but for the most part, if we simply start reading what the bible has to say on a topic and then applying that to our life, we will begin to see a dramatic change. The bible has wisdom for marriage; it says “husbands love your wives as Christ loved the church and wives respect your husbands.” Imagine how different many marriages would be if couples started to do just those two things.

In finances, it says to be content with what you have and not to fall in love with money. It says that the borrower is slave to the lender and how we should avoid it. With kids, it says to train a child in the way he should go, and to discipline a child, and for fathers not to exasperate their children. And for work, it says to do your best, to not be lazy, to go to the ant and learn from its industriousness. Think of how if a person just did these things how their life would be dramatically different.

Moses lays out two paths the people could take and both will have consequences. Deuteronomy 30:15-18 reads, “See, I set before you today life and prosperity, death and destruction. For I command you today to love the Lord your God, to walk in his ways, and to keep his commands, decrees and laws; then you will live and increase, and the Lord your God will bless you in the land you are entering to possess. But if your heart turns away and you are not obedient, and if you are drawn away to bow down to other gods and worship them, I declare to you this day that you will certainly be destroyed. You will not live long in the land you are crossing the Jordan to enter and possess.”

Now the choices were clear and every choice has a consequence. So let us fast forward and the people of Israel decide to disobey God, ignore His decrees and laws, and then their lives start to go south, guess who it is that they blame? Not themselves, but they blame God? God had told them what to do they just didn’t do it. They griped about how unfair God was, when it wasn’t God’s fault at all. It was theirs.

It is easier to blame God and say that God is not good than it is for us to confess that we didn’t listen and we messed up. It’s hard for some people to simply take responsibility for their lives so they make God the scapegoat for all their problems. I spoke to a woman once who was telling me about her grandson. This grandson has fallen on hard times, and the grandmother was supporting him, and he was upset with God for the way his life was going. Yet, the grandma told me that this man spent his nights out with his buddies drinking and having a good time and then he would come home and crash in his room until about 2 p.m. or 3 p.m. and only wanted a job where he would be respected (i.e. no physical labor). This same boy had dropped out of college and do you get the picture? Is it God’s fault that his life stinks? No, it’s his.

It’s easier for a person to sit around and mope about how unfair God is and how God isn’t giving him this or that, than it is for that person to get up and do something about it. A lot of times our lives stink because we are reaping the consequences of our choices. Galatians 6:7 says, “Do not be deceived: God cannot be mocked. A man reaps what he sows.” That’s not a threat, it is just a wake up call for how things really are. Before we begin to blame God for what is wrong in our lives, let’s ask ourselves to see if we have listened to what He has said first.

GCHS MARCHING BAND PREPARE FOR SEASON

Assistant Drum Major Sadie Suel directs the Grant County Band. Photos by Annette Crimmins

Director: Dr. Tim Dailey

Number of band members and number of seniors: 88 members with seven seniors

Name of this year’s show: “Dilemma”

Musical selections: Original music by Frank Sullivan

How would you describe the show: “Dilemma” is about the inner conflict of having to make a difficult decision. After weighing options and pushing away external influences, the band learns to trust their ability to choose.

Biggest competition in your class this year: Madison North Hopkins and Anderson County

Outlook for the upcoming season:
I think that the band has done a great job of picking up where they left off at the end of last year. We have a much deeper talent pool and the kids are hungry to win. It should be a very successful year.

Grant County Band Schedule

- Sept. 6 – Beechwood
- Sept. 13 – Campbell County
- Oct. 4 – Home show at Grant County Festival of Bands
- Oct. 11 – Madison Central
- Oct. 18 – Bryan Station
- Oct. 25 – State Quarterfinals at Madison Southern
- Nov. 1 – State Championships at Eastern Kentucky University

The Grant County Marching Band practices their formations. The band season kicks off on Sept. 6 at Beechwood.

WHS MARCHING BAND PLAN FOR A BRIGHT SEASON

Brailynn Milburn plays the drums. Photos by Bryan Marshall

Director: Chris Hedges

Number of band members and number of seniors: 70 members and 12 Seniors

Name of this year’s show: “Galaxy”

Musical selections: The Final Countdown/Theme from 2001: A Space Odyssey; Enterprising Young Men (from Star Trek: Into the Darkness); Moondance by Van Morrison; Mars by Gustav Holst; Rocket Man by Bernie Taupin and Elton John; Jupiter by Gustav Holst.

How would you describe the show: Lots of great music, lots of fun and some great visual opportunities.

Biggest competition in your class this year: We try not to focus on other bands. There is no defense in competitive marching band. Only offense. Our goal is to present the best show that we possibly can. If we do that, hopefully we will achieve a great result. There are many great Class A Bands in Kentucky. It would be difficult to only pick a few. Beechwood has been the Class A State Champion for the past four years. So, if there’s going to be a new state champion, there will have to have be a band that produces a better show and performance than them.

Outlook for the upcoming season:
We feel good about the work that the students, parents and staff have done to produce a great show. There are many working parts.

Williamstown High Marching Band Schedule

- Sept. 5: Bring on the Band Night at the WHS Baseball Field at 7 p.m.
- Sept. 6: Bourbon County
- Sept. 13: Campbell County
- Sept. 20: Morehead State University

- Oct. 4: Simon Kenton (Mid-State Qualifier)

- Oct. 25: 2014 KMEA SMBC Class A Quarterfinals at Madison Southern (Berea)
- Nov. 1: 2014 KMEA SMBC Class A Semi-Finals (Bryan Station) and Finals (Eastern Kentucky University)

BRAVES STOMP OWEN COUNTY

Hunter Lawson tries to break through for a big run against Owen County. Lawson broke schools records for most rushing yards, most touchdowns and most points scored in a game. Photos by Mark Verbeck

LAWSON, OFFENSE BREAK RECORDS IN 60-7 WIN

By Bryan Marshall
Staff Writer

Hunter Lawson's name will go in the record books, but the running back said he doesn't deserve all the credit.

The Grant County High School junior broke school records for most rushing yards, most touchdowns and points scored in a game Aug. 29 against Owen County.

While the Braves dominated the rival Rebels all game, it was Lawson's five-touchdown, 245-yards rushing performance that led the way in the 60-7 victory.

"It feels great to get our first win," Lawson said. "It felt great to set some records too, but I have to say thanks to the linemen and our fullbacks for doing their jobs. They're the ones that make our running game powerful. The offensive line did a great job blocking all night. Our two fullbacks, Triston Wallace and Jacob Ferguson, they were hitting people hard all game. Without them, I wouldn't have been able to do what I did."

Good things happen to good people, said Coach Kevin Siple, in reaction to Lawson's monster game.

The Braves offense also broke school records for most points scored in a game.

"Hunter Lawson is a great kid who works very hard at his craft," he said. "He was dominating Friday night. He ran through so many tackles and got so many yards after the first hit. Although Hunter's name goes on those records in the books, we all know that our whole offense can take pride in that accomplishment."

Lawson paced the offense, but Triston Wallace and Nick Stephenson also scored rushing touchdowns.

Quarterback Michael McLean ran for a 11-yard TD and threw a 19-yard touchdown to Austin Schnieder.

As well as the Braves played on offense, the team also dominated on defense by forcing a total of six turnovers, including two interceptions by Joseph Knipp and one each by Luke Walters and Logan Cooper.

Schneider also forced a fumble on the Rebels' first offensive series that was recovered by GCHS.

"Any win is great by any margin, but we needed to make a statement about the new attitude of the Braves," Siple said. "Our kids have worked two long years in the off-season to be this position. It was a very gratifying win for our kids and coaches."

Siple attributes the performance to hard work and toughness, adding that the players were extremely physical during the game.

Coming off a one-win season last year, Siple said the Braves now need to use the victory as it goes forward this season.

"In football, you have to mentally convince yourself that it is 10 one-week seasons," Siple said. "You have to concentrate on one week at a time, and really focus on not looking ahead, or being content based on what you did the weeks before."

The Braves now will travel Sept. 5 to Ohio to take on New Richmond High School.

Last season, New Richmond easily handled GCHS with a 48-13 blowout on the Braves' home field.

"They are a very good team and very well coached," Siple said. "We will really have to play well this week. I believe we will because we are playing very fundamental football right now. We are playing great defense, and dominating, ball control offense. Those two areas will always keep you in a position to win. High school football is about being able to run the football, and stop the run game of your opponent. We are doing both those things very well right now."

For Lawson, the team must keep working hard and stay focus to continue being successful.

"Coach always said in the off-season that when we keep working hard the reward comes on Friday nights," he said. "We just have to keep playing hard."

Ronnie "Buckwheat" Kinman goes up for a ball between two Owen County players.

Dustin Haubner looks to shake off a tackle from an Owen County players as he runs up the field.

Grant, Williamstown have successful run at Ryle Invitational

By Chantel March
Sports Correspondent

Grant County

The Grant County High School cross country team sent several runners to the Ryle Invitational on Aug. 30 in Union to get a head start on their season.

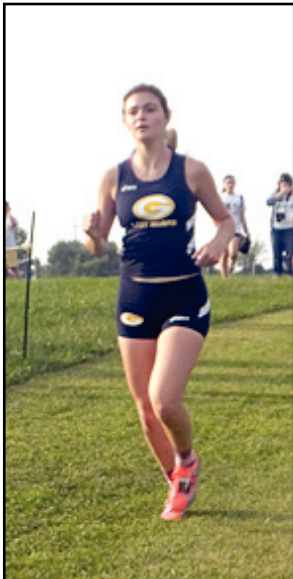

With it being a holiday weekend, members could choose to participate.

Senior Sydney Parker opted to run, and made an impressive showing of 31st in a field of 133 girls in the varsity 5,000 meter race.

Parker finished with a time of 21:54.20. Although this is her first year running with the Grant County high school team, Parker has been involved in cross country since kindergarten.

In the girls' JV race, Summer Dearing ran and placed 65th with a time of 25:46.

sonal best time of 21:04. He placed 43rd in the 5K race and was pleased with his first attempt at competing at the JV level.

Members of the middle school team also ran, and eighth grader Ben Spratt took first place overall in the middle school boys' 3000 meter race.

WHS Junior Carly Middleton still has a smile approaching mile 2. The Grant County teams will next compete Sept. 6, when they host their own invitational at Sherman Elementary. Races begin at 8 a.m.

Williamstown

The Williamstown High School cross country team began their season Aug. 30 at the Ryle Invitational in Union.

Coach Mark Kinsey sent four members to compete at the JV level to get the first race under their belts.

In the 5K race overtaken by girls from Ursuline Academy and Highlands High School, juniors Avery March and Carly Middleton competed.

March finished the mostly flat course in a little over 28 minutes, and Middleton followed in slightly over 30 minutes.

Eighth grader Bradley Perkins ran the boys' JV race and had an impressive 31st place finish in a field of 128 runners.

Junior Jeffrey Jackson ran his first race in the 5K boys' JV class and completed the course in a little over 25 minutes.

The team will send runners from grades K-12 to the Grant County Invitational on Sept. 6 on the course at Sherman Elementary.

Duke Energy Kentucky's current monthly DSM rate for residential electric customers is $0.003062 per kilowatt-hour (kWh) and for non-residential customers is $0.001128 per kilowatt-hour for distribution service and $0.000848 per kilowatt-hour for transmission service.

Duke Energy Kentucky seeks approval to revise these rates as follows: Duke Energy Kentucky's monthly DSM rate for residential gas customers would increase to $0.055020 per hundred cubic feet and for non-residential gas customers would remain at $0.000000 per hundred cubic feet. Duke Energy Kentucky's monthly DSM rate for residential electric customers would increase to $0.003094 per kilowatt-hour and for non-residential customers would increase to $0.001249 per kilowatt-hour for distribution service and would remain at $0.000848 per kilowatt-hour for transmission service.

The rate contained in this notice is the rate proposed by Duke Energy Kentucky. However, the Public Service Commission may order a rate to be charged that differs from this proposed rate. Such action may result in a rate for consumers other than the rate in this notice. The foregoing rates reflect a proposed increase in electric revenues of approximately $329 thousand or 0.10% over current total electric revenues and an increase of $6 thousand or 0.01% over current gas revenues.

A typical residential gas customer using 70 ccf in a month will see an increase of $0.01 or 0.01%. A typical residential electric customer using 1000 kWh in a month will see an increase of $0.03 or 0.03%. A typical non-residential electric customer using 40 kilowatts and 14,000 kWh will see an increase of $0.169 or 0.13%. Non-residential gas customers and non-residential electric customers served at transmission voltage will see no change in their bills from this application.

Any corporation, association, body politic or person may by motion within thirty (30) days after publication or mailing of notice of the proposed rate changes, submit a written request to intervene to the Public Service Commission, 211 Sower Boulevard, P.O. Box 615, Frankfort, Kentucky 40602, and shall set forth the grounds for the request including the status and interest of the party. The intervention may be granted beyond the thirty (30) day period for good cause shown. Written comments regarding the proposed rate may be submitted to the Public Service Commission by mail or through the Public Service Commission's website. A copy of this application filed with the Public Service Commission is available for public inspection at Duke Energy Kentucky's office at 4580 Olympic Boulevard, Erlanger, Kentucky 41018 and on its website at <http://www.duke-energy.com>. This filing and any other related documents can be found on the Public Service Commission's website at <http://psc.ky.gov>. N8213C/E9/04/14

Recent high school graduates begin a new journey

By Bryan Marshall
Staff Writer

As students return to classes at Grant County and Williamstown schools, some graduates from the class of 2014 are beginning their journey into college life.

Three recent graduates explain how they choose what college to attend, how prepared they feel and what challenges lie ahead.

Courtney Colson, GCHS Class of 2014

Courtney Colson hopes to one day open her own bakery or maybe start a catering business.

As a 2014 Grant County High School graduate, Colson's next journey is taking her miles away to pursue her dream.

She just started classes at Mississippi University for Women in Columbus, Mississippi.

Colson is majoring in culinary arts with a focus in entrepreneurship.

"There are very few colleges that offer this degree in the country," she said. "I was stuck between a school in Rhode Island and MUW. I ended choosing MUW because they offered me a scholarship that covered tuition, room and board, out of state tuition, a study abroad trip and a small book stipend."

Colson made her final decision about where to attend college in December of her senior year.

The only other school she seriously considered was Johnson and Wales in Providence, Rhode Island.

"The hardest part about my final decision was dealing with the fact that my college options were so far from home and that I wouldn't get to see my family very much," Colson said. "But at the same time the decision to choose my specific college was easier because I have an aunt, two

ADVICE FOR THE CLASS OF 2015:

“Although your high school career feels like it's almost over, do not take this year as an opportunity to slack off. Finish your high school career strong and when choosing a college be sure to look at all your options.”

“Enjoy everything. Don't go where anyone thinks you should go. Honestly, don't let your friends, teachers or even family decide for you. It's your future. If you hate where you are and what you do, you can't and won't want to accomplish anything.

Be happy in your decision.”

uncles and several cousins that live about 20 minutes away from my campus. So although I will be far from my parents and sisters, I will still have other family close by that I can see on weekends and breaks.”

Other than her nearby relatives, Colson had an opportunity to meet fellow students on campus visits, including an out-of-state student from Maryland who she has a lot in common with.

The duo are roommates

this fall as they begin their college career.

Colson will also be enrolled into the Ina E. Gordy Honors College while at MUW.

By participating in the Honors College, she will be eligible to graduate from MUW with honors and will be given opportunities such as honors geared classes and a closed study abroad trip.

Having taking a rigorous schedule at GCHS, Colson said she feels prepared for college.

She credits her Advanced Placement and honors teachers for helping her feel more confident in her abilities.

While she is prepared for classes and homework, Colson said she has not prepared as much for moving away.

"I will be missing my family and friends dearly while I'm in college, but I also feel like MUW is somewhere that can feel like home," she said. "I am excited to move somewhere that is new to me, but I am also nervous to take on the responsibility of college life. I believe college will be a great experience, but growing up and getting out of your comfort zone is always a difficult task.”

Morgan Shoemaker, WHS Class of 2014

Morgan Shoemaker spent a week at Murray State University and fell in love with the home aspect of the campus.

The WHS graduate knew it was the perfect choice for her college.

"Coming from a small town and an even smaller school, a close knit community and campus like Murray's was everything that I needed," she said.

Shoemaker's original plan was to attend the University of Kentucky and major with the agriculture department.

However, the former WHS Future Farmers of America club member changed schools when UK dropped the major she had planned on.

Now, Shoemaker has started classes at Murray with a major in television broadcasting and production and a minor in journalism.

Ultimately, she hopes to go into either the movie or TV/news production field.

"I've always been a movie lover, but more of a 'how did that amazingly cool thing just happen' kind of person," Shoemaker said.

While Shoemaker will be attending Murray with her best friend, she admits the most difficult transition will be finding people to talk to that she does not already know.

"I've been at Williamstown since I was 5," she said. "I made my friends and grew up with them. I'll be the first to say that I'm really nervous about talking to people who I haven't known for 13 years and trying to become friends with them. They don't know me, haven't grown up with me and have no idea when my birthday is or where my grandparents live.”

To help get used to being away from home, Shoemaker worked at the YMCA Camp Pioningo in Brandenburg, Kentucky, for two months this summer.

Just four days after graduation, Shoemaker began what she said was "an intense experience" that was extremely rewarding.

"I met some people and children that changed my life," she said. "I've cried more in the past two months than I have in eight years. I've been happy, overwhelmed, furious, homesick, heartbroken and so amazed that it's been crazy. You don't know happiness until you've had a child, who you met 10 minutes ago say 'I like you,' and grab ahold of your hand like you've known each other for years. You learn more about yourself when you teach a child how to not be afraid of heights as you belay them 40 feet into the air and watch as they have the time of their life and tell you thank you once they're safe on the ground.”

Although she does not feel prepared for college, Shoemaker said she does not think she would have changed anything about her time at WHS.

"I thoroughly enjoyed my senior year, but I will miss all the people that I'm leaving behind," she said. "Being a part of marching band for six years will make some lasting friendships and I think the hardest thing for me will be saying goodbye to those people that have been a huge part of my life.”
